

HOW TO GUIDE:

TRANSIT

*To work, to school or

Public transportation is a important link to jobs, economic expansion, and quality of life in our Greater Minnesota communities. Riding transit can be easy, inexpensive, convenient, and comfortable. It also saves money and wear and tear on personal vehicles while reducing traffic and preventing air pollution.

Greater Minnesota transit providers will assist any individuals who need help planning a transit trip from home to the work site. Transit maps and schedules can be provided for employees at the work site. Employees who choose to take transit to work, can take advantage of these benefits:

TRY Transit

The Greater Minnesota Rideshare coordinator can help your company:

- Market and promote riding the transit
- Recommend transit programs and incentives
- Organize employee informational meetings about the transit
- Trip planning assistance
- Provide transit schedules and route maps at work sites
- Possible discounted transit passes for regular users

- Financial savings
- Employees arrive relaxed and ready to work
- Less stress commuting to work
- Reduces need for employee parking
- Viable option for employees who don't drive or don't own a vehicle
- Tax incentives
